Subject 1983 Savings Bond Campaign

I'd like to bring something to your particular attention which could be of some importance to your personal financial planning - United States Savings Bonds.

All of us need to plan for the future, regardless of age. A saving habit nurtured early will guarantee a healthy financial position all along life's way. The new Series EE is a good deal -- savings-wise. Our Payroll Deduction Plan certainly makes it easy to subscribe.

We in America enjoy a form of government and a level of material and spiritual wealth far beyond the wildest hopes of most others in the world.

We owe it to ourselves and families to protect these unique advantages -- and one significant way is to encourage stability in management of the public debt through participation in the Savings Bond program.

Patriotism, too, could easily motivate your support, and is surely not out of date. It costs little to identify with it; it may be too expensive not to. I encourage you to seriously consider this important and convenient option available to you.
