Passenger screening training course for CAMS security staff

The course is in compliance with the FAA and ICAO requirements. The course will emphasise the threat to civil aviation and to take appropriate action when discovering dangerous or suspicious items and act decisively with courtesy and tact. Simulated devices such as explosives weapons and improvised devices will be used to allow trainees to gain first hand knowledge and to recognise the component parts of an explosive. This special course is initiated by CAMS and SCA in order to provide passengers with the utmost security.

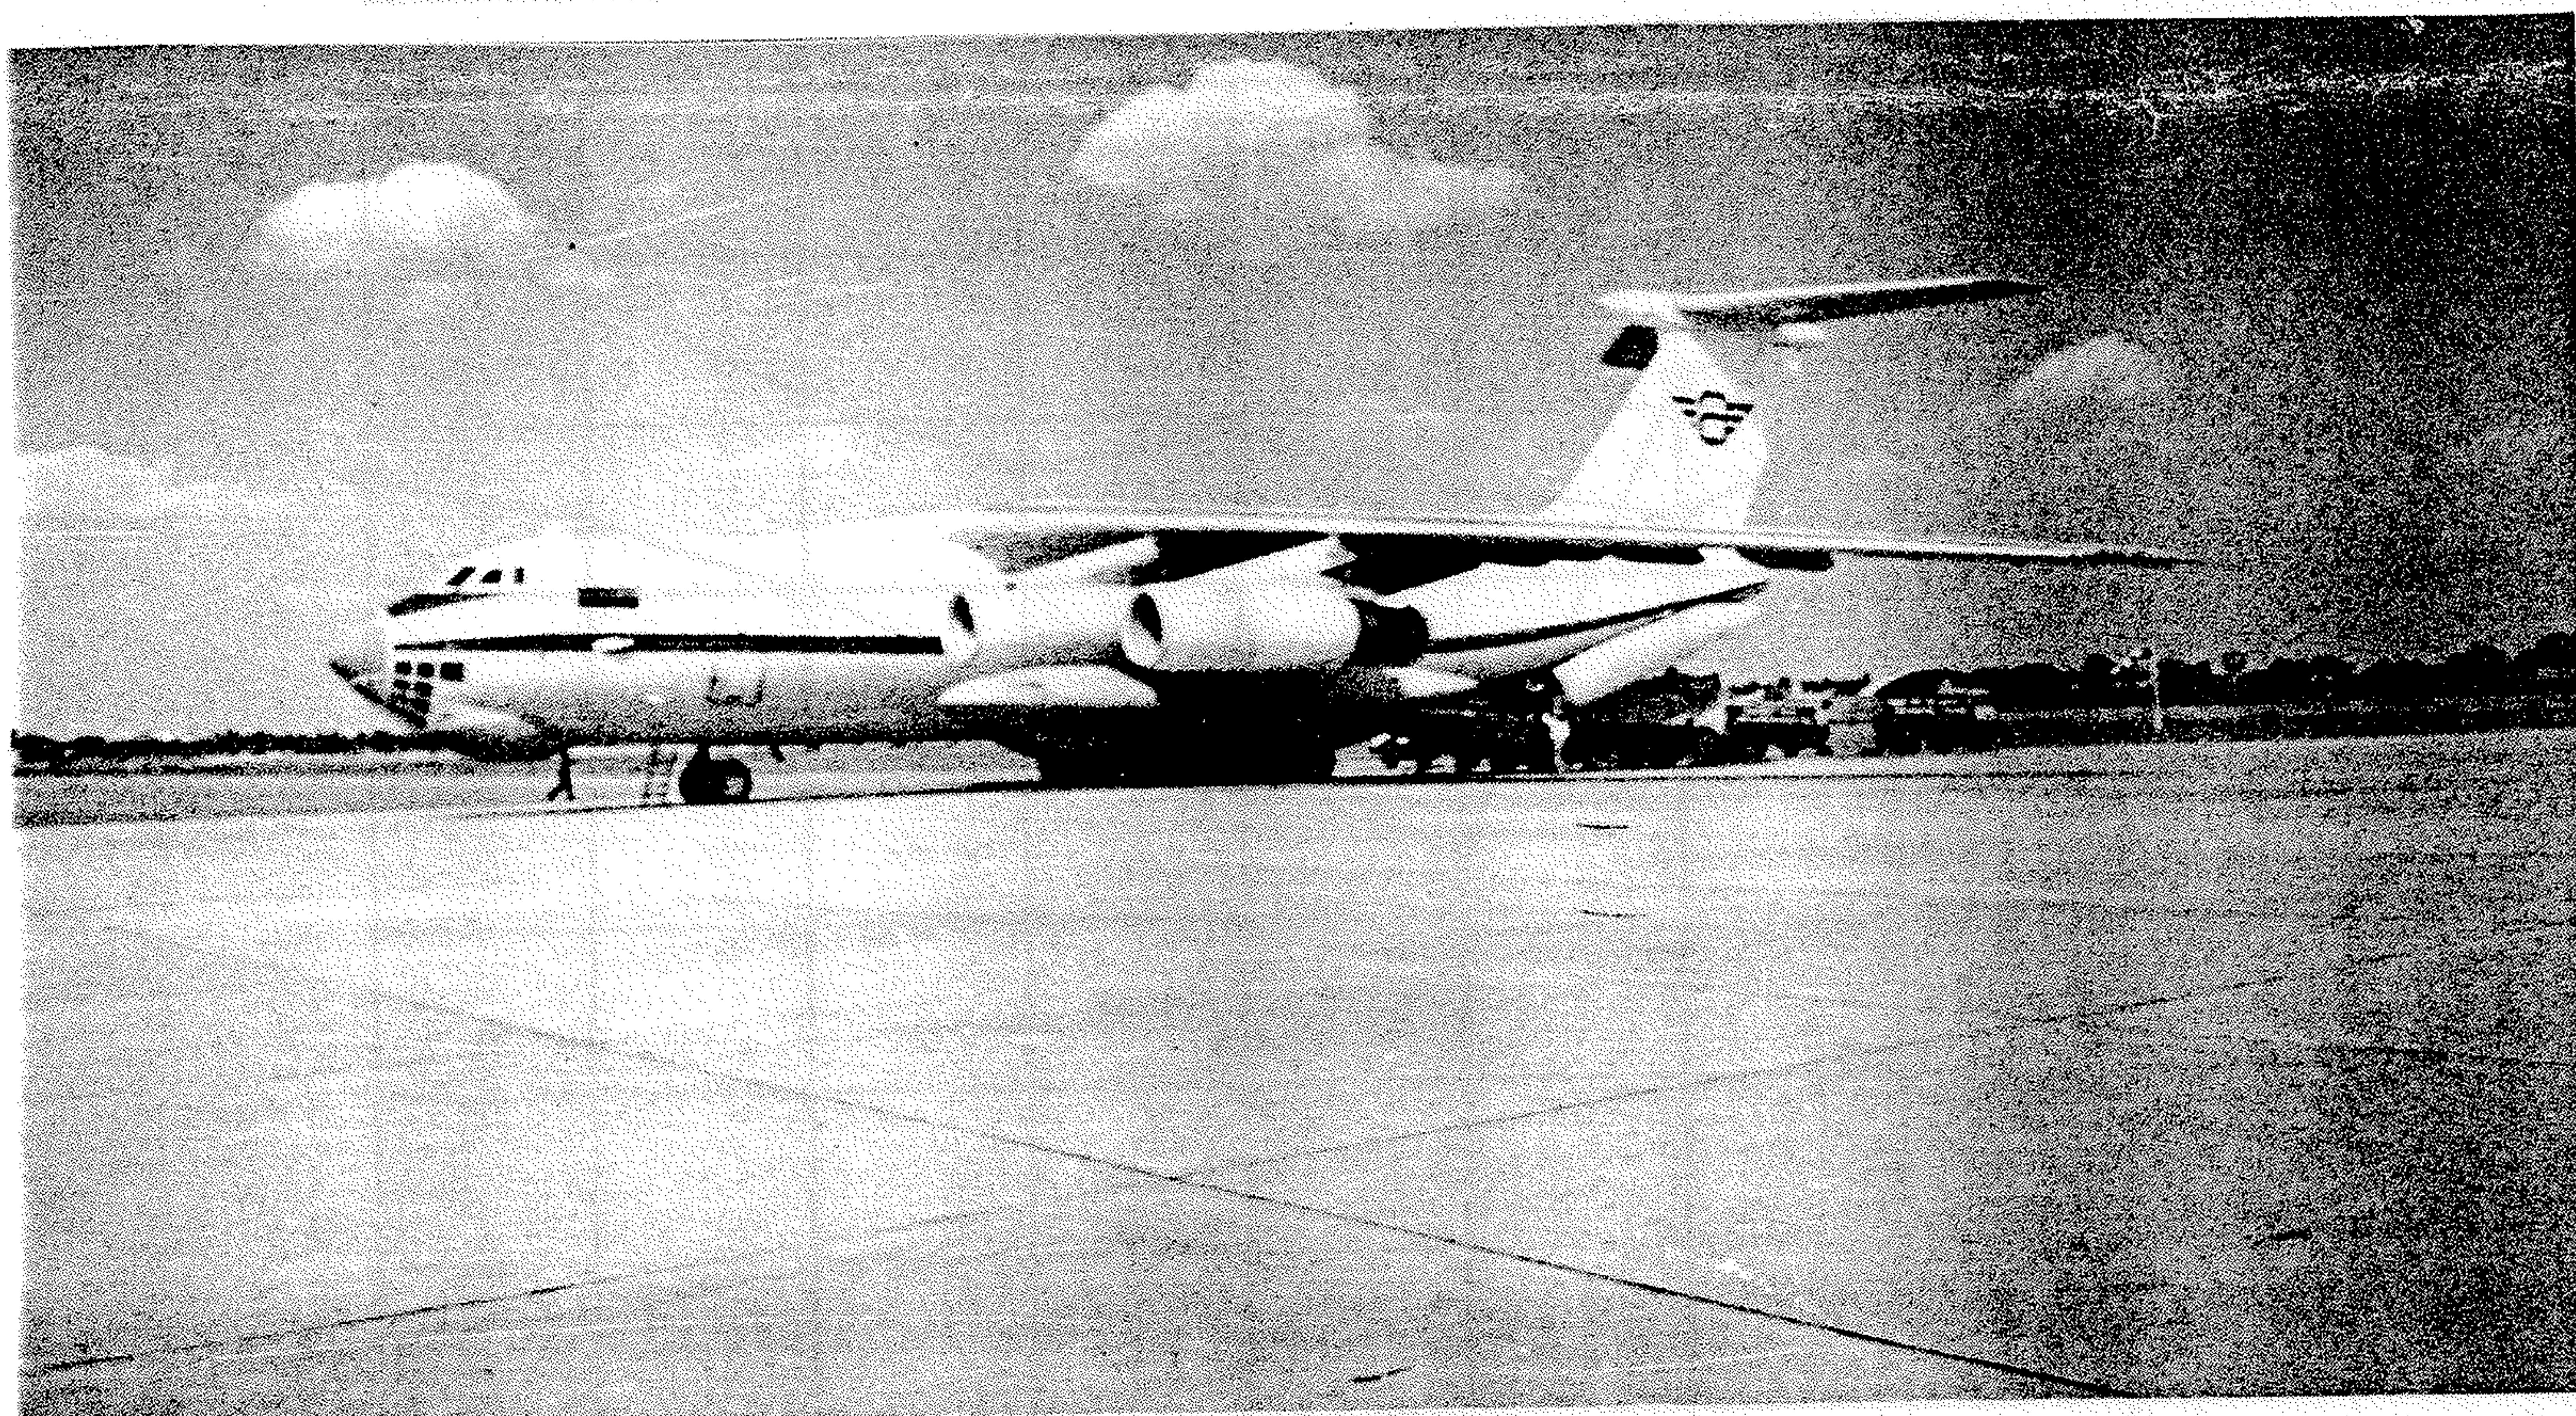

June 1998, the start of various training courses for CAMS staff.

Part of SCA/CAMS on-going policy of up-grading airport personnel knowledge to an utmost efficiency for the daily operation the following training will be implemented.

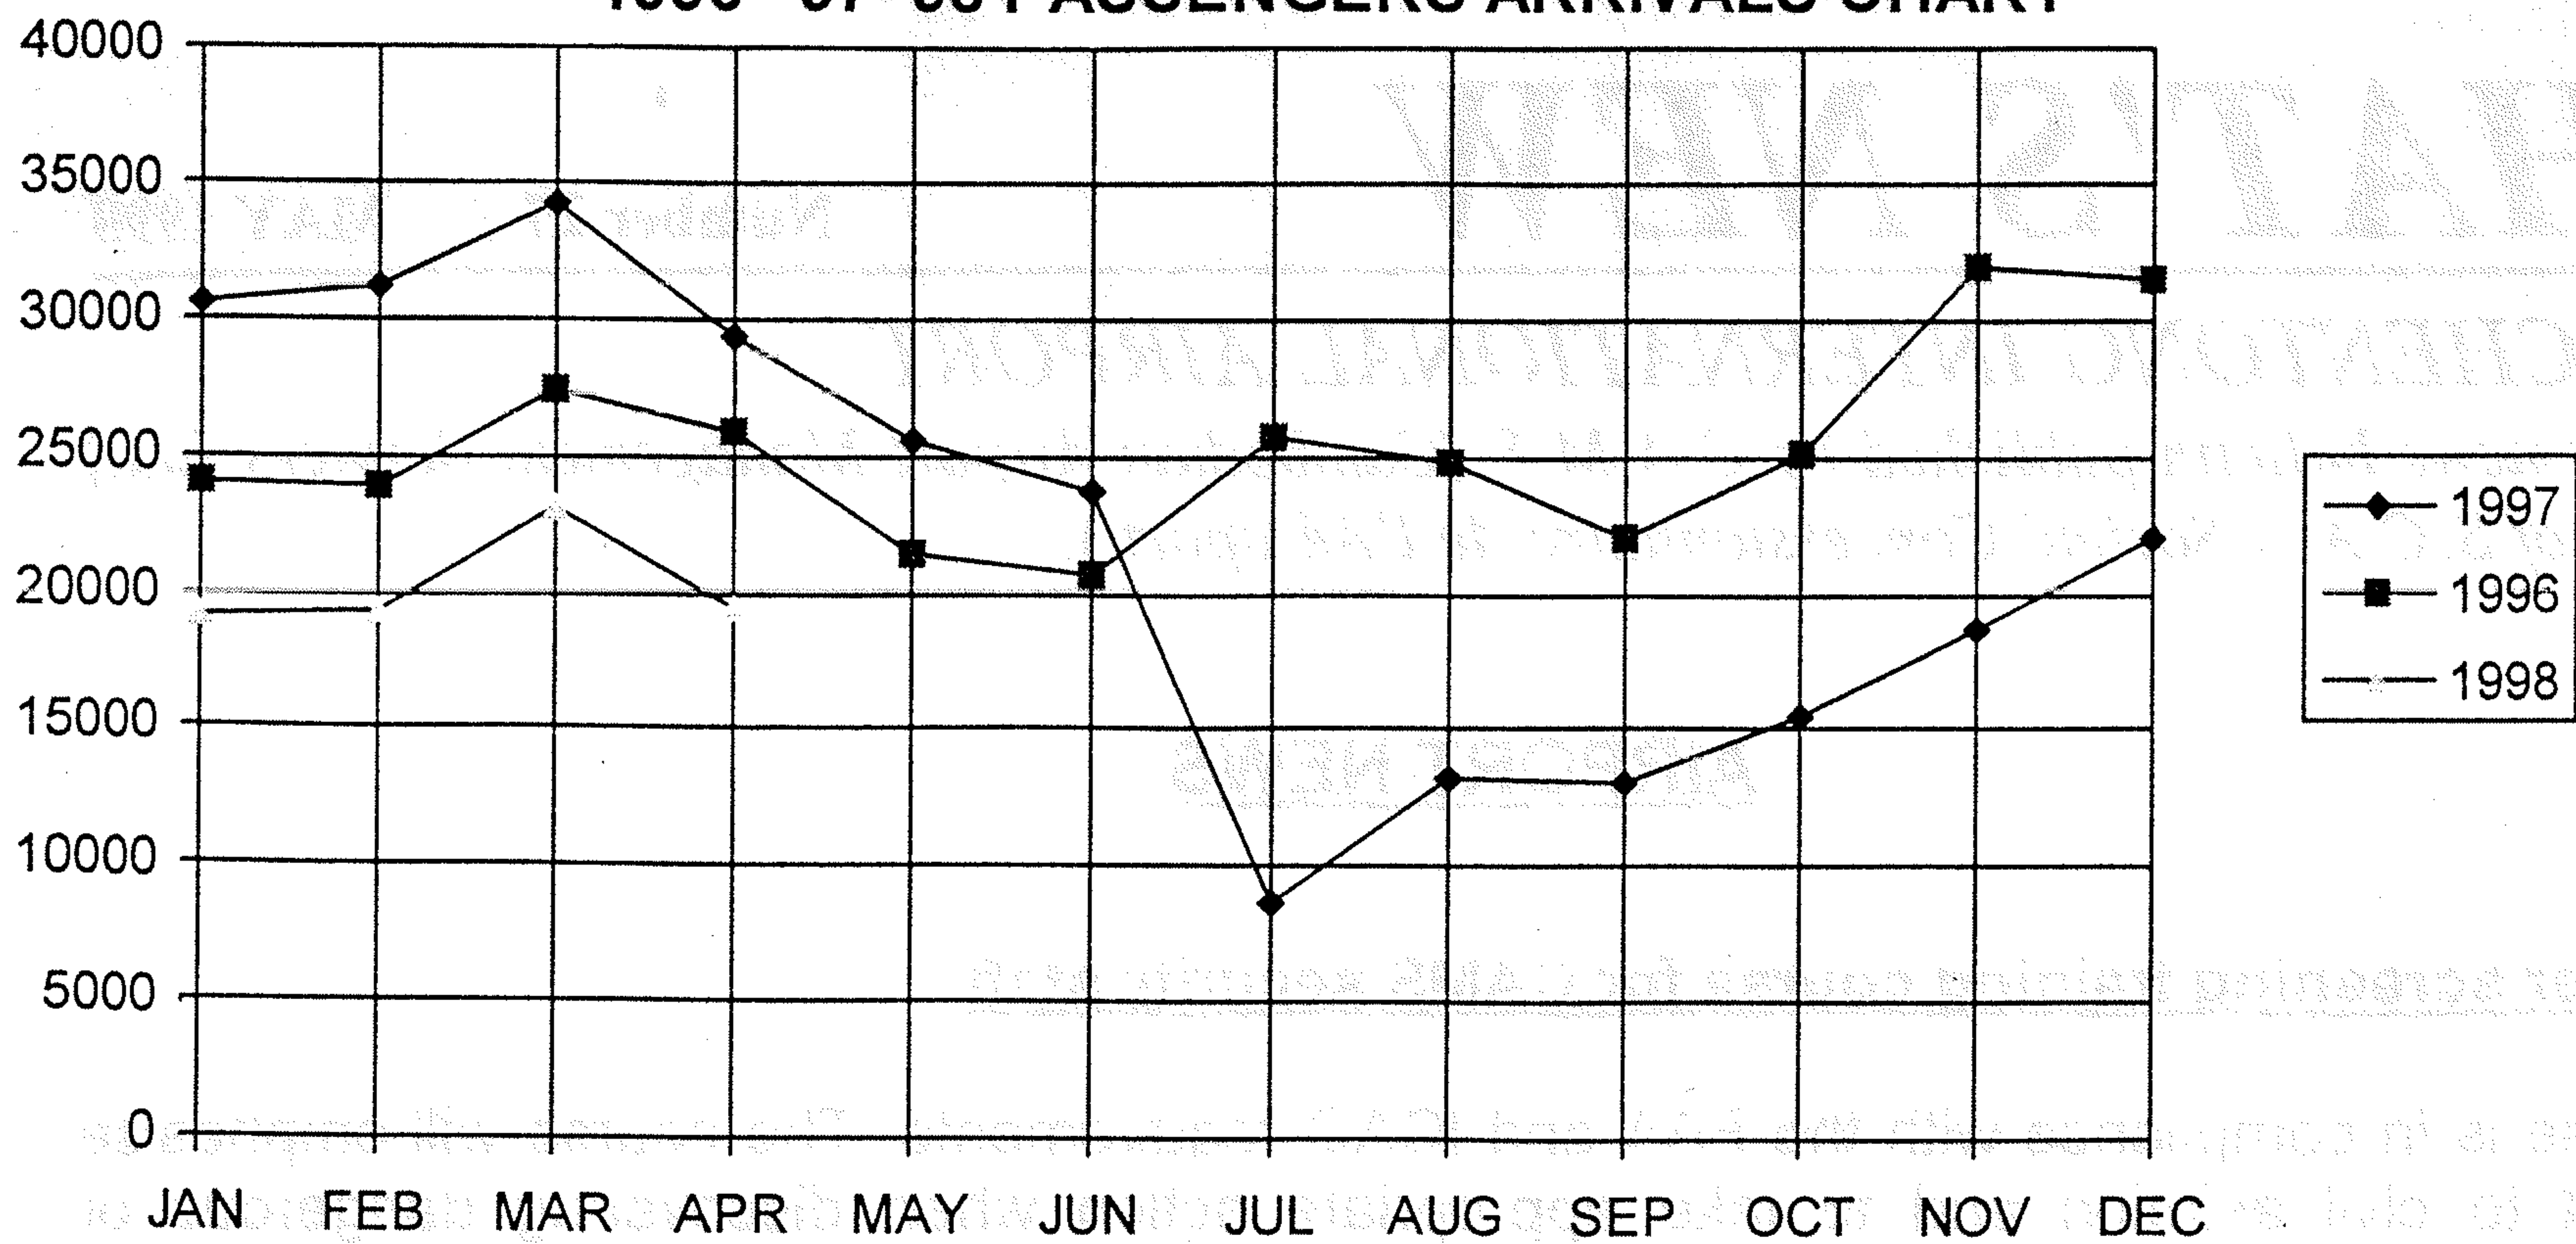

- Advanced Technical Training at the Institute of Technology of Phnom Penh.
- Airport security training, X-Ray refresher courses.
- Proficiency of the English language classes.
- French language classes.
