The Philadelphia String Quartet has been praised throughout the world for its profound musicianship, ensemble perfection and the depth and beauty of its playing. In addition to its regular series, the Quartet in Seattle each July presents the entire cycle of Beethoven's string quartets.

The Quartet's European activities have included performances at many of the world's most prestigious festivals, including those of Prades, Madrid, Duvronik, Lucerne, Bach, the Gulbenkian in Lisbon, the Bergen, Rhodes, Biaritz and Deauville. The Quartet makes annual recordings for the BBC in London, and in 1980 made its second major tour of South America, performing 20 concerts in eight countries.
