PROGRAM NOTES

Abraham Lincoln was born on February 12, 1809 in a one-room log cabin on the 348-acre Sinking Spring Farm, in southeast Hardin County, Kentucky (now part of LaRue County), making him the first president born outside the original Thirteen Colonies. SONGS OF OLD KENTUCKY by BRANT KARRICK is intended as a tribute to Lincoln’s early years. The composer offers the following note concerning SONGS OF OLD KENTUCKY:

Kentucky has a rich and unique history with records dating back to the 1670s when the English sent explorers westward from Virginia across the Appalachian Mountains to survey the frontier. As Eastern Kentucky became the starting point for many of the westward migrations, stout pioneers settled into the Appalachian and Cumberland Mountains. Their lives fused with the panoramic mountains creating a wonderful array of culture including language, crafts and music. Early schools such as the Hindman and Pine Mountain Settlement Schools provided education through high school for the mountain children and the schools soon became centers of folklore and folk music. Kentucky mountaineers had preserved a proud heritage of traditional ballads, and other old Scottish and English folk songs originally brought to America by their colonial ancestors.

Two young women, working independently undertook an adventure of a lifetime. Josephine McGill, in 1914, and Loraine Wyman, in 1917, traveled through the Cumberland Mountains writing down words and tunes to over 200 songs. Josephine’s first published songbook was entitled Folk-Songs of the Kentucky Mountains and Loraine’s two published books were Lonesome Tunes: Folk-Songs from the Kentucky Mountains, 1917, and Twenty Kentucky Mountain Songs, 1920, both with piano arrangements. It is from these collections that the five folk tunes used in this setting – John Riley, The Lonesome Scenes of Winter, Sourwood Mountain, Frog Went A-Courting, and Loving Hannah – were found.

Songs of Old Kentucky was composed during the fall of 2005 for the Kentucky Music Educators Association District IX All-District Band and was subsequently premiered January 14th, 2006.

LELAND FORSBLAD based his ABRAHAM LINCOLN WALKS AT MIDNIGHT on the Vachel Lindsay poem of the same name. Lindsay, who grew up in Springfield, Illinois, used Lincoln as a subject in his poem ABRAHAM LINCOLN WALKS AT MIDNIGHT (text below).

It is portentous, and a thing of state
That here at midnight, in our little town
A mourning figure walks, and will not rest,
Near the old court-house pacing up and down,
Or by his homestead, or in shadowed yards
He lingers where his children used to play,
Or through the market, on the well-worn stones
He stalks until the dawn-stars burn away.
A bronzed, lank man! His suit of ancient black,
A famous high top-hat and plain worn shawl
Make him the quaint great figure that men love,
The prairie-lawyer, master of us all.
He cannot sleep upon his hillside now.
He is among us;—as in times before!
And we who toss and lie awake for long,
Breathe deep, and start, to see him pass the door.

His head is bowed. He thinks of men and kings.
Yea, when the sick world cries, how can he sleep?
Too many peasants fight, they know not why;
Too many homesteads in black terror weep.
The sins of all the war-lords burn his heart.
He sees the dreadnaughts scouring every main.
He carries on his shawl-wrapped shoulders now
The bitterness, the folly and the pain.
He cannot rest until a spirit-dawn
Shall come,—the shining hope of Europe free:
A league of sober folk, the Workers’ Earth,
Bringing long peace to Cornland, Alp and Sea.
It breaks his heart that things must murder still,
That all his hours of travail here for men
Seem yet in vain. And who will bring white peace
That he may sleep upon his hill again?

MY OLD KENTUCKY HOME is the state song of Kentucky. STEPHEN FOSTER published the tune in 1853 and the Kentucky General Assembly adopted it as the official state song on March 19th, 1928. The version performed this evening is a concert band arrangement by James Barnes.

In 1942, shortly after the U.S. entered World War II, conductor Andre Kostelanetz commissioned AARON COPLAND to compose a musical portrait of an “eminent American” in an effort to fortify and comfort people during that time of national distress. Copland felt overwhelmed by the assignment, but eventually came up with a work that has since become a touchstone in times of crisis, and one of the most enduring works in American music, A LINCOLN PORTRAIT. Copland used excerpts from different Lincoln speeches, combined with musical quotations from American songs, such as "Camptown Races." He finished the piece in April 1942 and its first performance was by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra on May 14, 1942, with William Adams as narrator.

Frazer Cook is a familiar voice to many in the Northwest. He began doing radio announcing while working as the Assistant Manager of KUOW-FM, became a booth announcer for KCTS-TV, and, while still a student at the University of Washington, announced for KIRO-AM in Seattle.

After graduation, he pursued a career in communications and media at KING-TV, The Boeing Company, and later at the University of Washington, but continued public performances throughout the Northwest as a public address announcer for eleven seasons of the Kingbowl Marching Band Festival, Master of Ceremonies for several WMEA All-State concerts, and presenter of a work by Dylan Thomas at an All-Northwest concert.

His association with the University of Washington has taken Mr. Cook to many parts of the nation to do public address work at Disney World, Knott's Berry Farm, and Disneyland, Universal Studios, three World's Fairs, and at pre-game and halftime ceremonies for eighteen bowl games, including eight Rose Bowls.

In addition, Mr. Cook has done the public address readings for hundreds of ceremonies and presentations honoring championship athletic teams, individual sports stars, inductees to both the college and professional Halls of Fame, and introductions of government officials, civic leaders, and such notables as Bob Hope and Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II. Mr. Cook has been the announcer for the pre-game and halftime ceremonies at Husky football games for the last 48 years.

Jonathan Elkus has arranged songs and sketches written by Charles E. Ives into a suite to reflect the composer's love of American folk music. Three of the five movements of OLD HOME DAYS SUITE FOR BAND will be performed this evening. The first movement is a tribute to the Bowery waltz, "Little Annie Rooney." The lyrics that Ives wrote for this song paint a picture of Annie and her festive wedding party at "the old dance ground." The "Opera House" is the first half of the second movement and quotes Ives' song "Memories," depicting the anticipation of an audience listening to a pit band playing the overture for a show. A feverish accelerando and crescendo builds momentum as the music storms into the second half, and the curtain rises to a drum roll-off. "Old Home Day" evolves to incorporate the melodies of "The Girl I Left Behind Me," "Garryowen," and "Auld Lang Syne." The fifth movement, "London Bridge is Fallen Down," is a play on the classic tune and is set for band from a brass quintet arrangement of Ives' Sketches for Organ and Piano.

William Schuman was a native of New York, where he attended public schools and formed a jazz ensemble in high school. He entered college intending to pursue a business career, but soon after decided to study music, completing his studies at Malkin Conservatory in New York, Teachers College of Columbia University and at the Mozarteum Academy in Salzburg, Austria. He became music instructor at Sarah Lawrence College in 1935 and ten years later was appointed president of the Juilliard School of Music. Although he considered himself a composer first (he was awarded the first Pulitzer Prize in music for his 1943 work Secular Cantata No. 2), Schuman championed American music, composers and performers as an educator and administrator.

Schuman's New England Triptych was originally written for orchestra in 1956 and is based on hymns by William Billings. BE GLAD THEN, AMERICA is the first of the three movements. Billings' text includes:

- Yeah, the Lord will answer
- And ye shall be satisfied therewith.
- Fear not, O land.
- And say unto his people—behold!
- Be glad then, America.
- Be glad and rejoice.
- I will send you corn and wine and oil.
- Shout and rejoice.
- Hallelujah!

Henry Fillmore was an extraordinarily prolific band composer and arranger with over 250 original compositions for the idiom. He ran away from home at the age of sixteen, albeit for only three weeks, to join the circus, and upon his return his father enrolled him at the Miami (Ohio) Military Institute. For a time he worked for the family publishing business, but the relationship was strained after ongoing arguments over publications for band and the failure of his parents to accept his girlfriend, Mabel. Fillmore left the business in 1905, married Mabel, and they both found employment with the Lemon Brothers Circus. After one year, he returned to work again for the family company, but was now given freedom to compose and publish band music. While many Fillmore compositions were published under his own name, others were published under such pseudonyms as Gus Beans, Ray Hall, Harry Hartlet, Al Hayes, Will Huff, and Henrietta Moore. Considered to be one of Fillmore’s finest marches, AMERICANS WE was first performed by the Fillmore Band as part of a concert series at the Cincinnati Zoo in 1928, but it was introduced under a variety of titles including The Cincinnati Zoo and Pure Food Health. By the time of publication in 1929, he selected the present title and dedicated it “to all of us.”

The AMERICAN CIVIL WAR FANTASY is a tone poem that musically portrays the mood, music and events leading to the Civil War. The piece features many traditional tunes depicting daily life in both the North and the South during that time period such as "Listen To The Mocking Bird", "Dixieland" and "Camptown Races". Then the rumblings of marching drums are heard and rallying songs fill the air in such pieces as "Maryland, My Maryland" and "The Yellow Rose of Texas". Following a meditative reflection, the sounds of battle describe the conflict as heard in "The Battle Hymn of the Republic". After the tumult, a new hope for a perpetually United America arises from the ashes.

ALFRED REED served in the 529th Army Air Force Band during World War II, and then attended the Juilliard School, studying composition with Vittorio Giannini. Following staff arranger positions for both NBC and ABC, he became the Conductor of the Baylor University Symphony Orchestra. He was Professor of Music at the University of Miami from 1966 to 1993 where he established the country’s first Music Business program. Reed was also a legendary conductor who performed and recorded extensively with the Tokyo Kosei Wind Ensemble in Japan.

Paul and Lois Hedge, co-directors of the Rushmore Summer Music Camp in South Dakota commissioned RUSHMORE, A SYMPHONIC PROLOGUE FOR WINDS, on the occasion of the camp’s 10th anniversary year, in 1980. It was first performed by the Rushmore Music Camp Symphonic Band under the direction of Kenneth Bloomquist, on August 16th, 1980, at the concluding concert held in the amphitheater at Mount Rushmore. A brooding mystic opening introduces a broad melodic line that is meant to symbolize the inner strength and calm majesty represented by these four great Americans whose visages are carved into the granite of Mt. Rushmore. As the theme is developed, echoes of the opening fanfares enter leading to a combination of the initial theme together with "America, the Beautiful".

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA “The March King”, personified turn-of-the-century America, the comparative innocence and brash energy of a young nation. While famous as a bandmaster, Sousa was by training and experience an orchestral musician. He was the seventeenth Director of the U.S. Marine Band from 1880-1892, and upon retirement from the Marines, went on to form his own legendary Sousa band, which gave thousands of concerts worldwide from 1892-1931. In addition to his marches, Sousa was an innovative composer of over 200 works including symphonic poems, suites, operas, and operettas. His musical comedy, “El Capitan” was Broadway’s first successful show composed by an American.

KING COTTON is classified as one of his thirteen “Exposition” marches, written for the Cotton States and International Exposition of 1895 at a time when cotton was vital to the country’s economy. Not only did the march and the presence of the Sousa Band at the exposition ensure the financial success of the event, it was one of Sousa’s personal favorite marches. He gave an autographed manuscript score of King Cotton to Georgia Governor, Clifford Walker, and even wrote a set of lyrics to the march for use during children’s concerts.
