The University of Washington Band Program

The University of Washington Wind Ensemble is the select wind ensemble at the UW and is comprised of the finest wind and percussion players on campus. Under Professor Salzman’s direction the University of Washington Wind Ensemble has performed at a number of prestigious music conventions, has presented several world premiere performances of outstanding new music for wind band and in 2004, undertook a highly acclaimed nine-day concert tour of the Kansai region of Japan returning for a more extensive tour of that country in March of 2007. In the spring of 2006, the ensemble was invited by the Seattle Symphony Orchestra to present a concert at Benaroya Hall as a part of the Symphony’s Made in America Festival. The London Financial Times review of the concert applauded “music of surprising sophistication...Cindy McTee’s Finish Line pulsed energetically and William Bolcom’s Song was simply gorgeous.” Subsequent to the 2006 performance the ensemble was invited for return appearances on Seattle Symphony concert series in 2007 and 2008. The UW Wind Ensemble has also collaborated with a number of internationally renowned guest artists, conductors and composers including Eddie Daniels, Steve Houghton, Allen Vizzutti, James Walker, Douglas Yeo, Leigh Howard Stevens, David Maslanka, Michael Colgrass, Cindy McTee, Eric Ewazen and David Stanhope. In July of 2008 Nihon Pals, a music education resource company based in Osaka, Japan, released a set of instructional DVDs regarding the subject of building ensemble musicality featuring Professor Salzman and the UW Wind Ensemble. The ensemble will be returning to Japan for their third concert tour of that country in March of 2010. Membership, based on audition, is open to the entire student body regardless of major field of study. Additional opportunities for student involvement in University of Washington instrumental organizations include the Symphonic Band, the Concert Band, the Campus Band, the 240-member Husky Marching Band, two jazz ensembles, several combos and the UW Symphony Orchestra.

In addition to composing music for world-class musicians and ensembles, Duffy has had a commitment to writing music for musicians at the beginning and middle stages of musical attainment, and is frequently commissioned by middle, high school and college bands. Recently he has pioneered a new genre of musical composition/conducting - music that requires a bi-lateral conductor, that is, a conductor who can conduct different meters with each hand simultaneously (sharing downbeats.)

David Morrison received his formal training in music at the University of Illinois, where he earned his Music Education Bachelor of Science degree in 1973 and his Masters degree in 1977. From 1973 to 1977, he was Director of Bands at East Richland High School in Olney, Illinois. From 1977 until 2006, he was the Director of Bands at Prospect High School in Mt. Under the direction of David Morrison, the Prospect bands were exceptionally successful. The Symphonic band won numerous honors, including consistent first division awards from the Illinois High School Association State Band Contest, first division awards at the Chicagoland Symphonic Band Festival, and the Honor Band Award at the prestigious Superstate Band Festival. Similarly, the Prospect Marching Band won competitions throughout the state of Illinois and the country, including winning the Grand Champion Governor's Trophy at the University of Illinois' Illini Marching Festival for 23 consecutive years. Auditioning among outstanding bands throughout the state of Illinois, the Prospect Symphonic Band was consistently selected to the University of Illinois Superstate Band Festival. In 2005, the Band was chosen for a second time to perform as the Superstate Honor Band at Krannert Center's Foehliger Great Hall in Champaign, Illinois on May 6, 2006.

He has numerous publications for bands with the C. L. Barnhouse, Arranger's Publications, Columbia Pictures, Hal Leonard Publishing and Niklon Pals publishing companies, and has served on the staff of new music reviews for The Instrumentalist magazine. Professor Salzman is a national artist/clinician for the Yamaha Corporation of America and has been a conductor, adjudicator or arranger for bands in over thirty-five states, Canada, England, South Korea, Indonesia, Thailand, Russia, China, and Japan, a country he has visited twenty times. He will be returning to Beijing, China to again conduct the People’s Liberation Army band in March of 2010. He is compiling editor and co-author (with several current and former UW graduate students) of A Composer's Insight: Thoughts, Analysis and Commentary on Contemporary Masterpieces for Wind Band, a new series of books on contemporary wind band composers published by Meredith Music Publications, a subsidiary of the Hal Leonard Corporation.

Soloist

Danny Helseth holds degrees from Central Washington University (BMus Ed) and the University of North Texas (MM, Performance, 2002). He has studied with Dr. Brian Bowman, Larry Gookin, Tom Gause and Vern Kagarice and is currently studying trombone with Ko-ichiro Yamamoto in the doctoral performance program at the University of Washington. In 2002 Helseth was a Fulbright Scholar in the UK, where he studied with Steven Mead while attending the Royal Northern College of Music. As a member of the United States Air Force Band in Washington D.C., Helseth was featured several times as a soloist with the band including the spring 2004 national tour. Helseth has performed as a chamber musician and clinician at universities all over the US as a member of the Tower Brass Quintet. With the acclaimed release of his first solo CD, “Snapshots!”, he is quickly establishing himself as an energetic and engaging soloist and has given recitals and master classes in several states. Helseth has recently been named Principal Conductor of Brass Band Northwest in Bellevue, Washington.

PROGRAM NOTES

Cindy McTee, a native of Eatonville, Washington, holds degrees from Pacific Lutheran University, the Yale School of Music and the University of Iowa. She also completed one year of study in Poland with Krzysztof Penderecki at the Academy of Music in Cracow. Ms. McTee taught at Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma from 1981 to 1984 and subsequently joined the faculty of the University of North Texas in Denton, TX where she is Regents Professor of Music Composition. She has received numerous awards for her music, most significantly: two awards from the American Academy of Arts and Letters (2002 and 1992); a Guggenheim Fellowship (2001); a Fulbright Fellowship (1990); and a Composers Fellowship from the National Endowment for the Arts (1994). McTee's compositions, which according to critic Charles Ward, reflect a “charging, churning celebration of the musical and cultural energy of modern-day America,” have received performances by leading orchestras, bands, and chamber ensembles in the United States, Japan, South America, and Europe. Of her work Ballet for Band McTee writes:
The opening movement, Introduction: On With the Dance, is inspired by the opening theme of Beethoven's Symphony No. 5, a 3-note motif outlining the interval of a minor third (C, Eb, C) developed and expanded to also include the interval of a major third (C, Eb, Cb). Following an excursion into a musical world informed by jazz rhythms and sounds, the movement concludes with a recapitulation of the opening material. The Waltz: Light Fantastic is a quick waltz inspired by a memorable performance of Ravel's La Valse in 2000 by the Rhode Island Philharmonic Orchestra under Larry Rachleff. A rising half-step motif in the basses lightens the effect of the falling half-step motif heard in the previous movement. Motifs consisting of minor and major thirds as well as jazz elements continue to permeate the textures of the Finale: Where Time Plays the Fiddle. References to Stravinsky's Rite of Spring can be heard at several other points along the way. Material from the beginning of the piece returns, and a final statement of the opening motif (C-Eb-C) provides closure.

British composer Martin Ellerby's works have been performed, broadcast and recorded to critical acclaim across Europe, Asia and the USA. His catalogue comprises compositions spanning a diverse range of media, including orchestral, choral, concert band, brass band, ballet, instrumental and chamber, together with a substantial number of commercial orchestrations and arrangements. Ellerby's works are published extensively and recorded on over 75 commercial CDs to date. Key performances include the BBC Promenade Concerts, Leipzig Gewandhaus, Barbican Centre, Royal Albert Hall, South Bank Centre and many major international festivals, including Edinburgh, Harrogate, Zurich and Kuurno Chamber Music (Finland). One of the most challenging works in the solo euphonium repertoire, the Euphonium Concerto, can be summed up as an exploration of the technical limits of the euphonium in regards to range, dexterity, and endurance. The Fantasy features the alternation of an energetic rising theme, sometimes slurred and sometimes tongued, with a beautiful melodic section. The Capriccio is the most demanding technically and rhythmically. One of the great moments of the work occurs as the 12/8 theme shifts from triple to duple subdivision. The writing can be described as melodic and motivic with a very wide palette of harmonic and melodic colors in an angular style. The chromatic appearance does not translate to chromatic sounding harmony. A muted section occurs in the middle of the second movement. The Rhapsody (for Luis), the emotional core of the work, is dedicated to Luis Maldanado. The writing and interplay between soloist and ensemble makes this movement a joy to perform and the final repeated d's in the solo line pay homage to another great lyrical euphonium concerto by Horovitz. Diversions is five minutes of pure, intense rhythmic drive.

At the turn of the twentieth century, when it was common practice to send talented musicians to Europe for their musical education, American composer Charles Ives received most of his musical training in the state of Connecticut. Much of Ives' early influence came from his father, George Ives, who was a Union Army bandmaster during the Civil War and a church musician in their hometown of Danbury. The senior Ives instilled in his son a fascination with bi-tonality and polyrhythms, qualities that would remain inherent in the younger Ives's compositional output. Charles chose to pursue studies at Yale University, where he composed his first large scale works, including Symphony No. 1, under the guidance of Horatio Parker. However, soon after leaving Yale, Ives decided against a career in music and ultimately experienced a great deal of professional success in the insurance business. Performances of his music were rare until the 1930s and 1940s when composers Henry Cowell and Lou Harrison began to champion his work. Ives was the recipient of the Pulitzer Prize in 1947 for his Symphony No. 3, forty years after the work was composed.

Believed to have been composed circa 1898-1899, the POSTLUDE IN F was originally an organ work that was thought to have been lost. The piece was likely never performed during Ives' lifetime. In fact, the first known performance is listed as 6 June, 1971 in Grove Music Online. The critical edition to be performed by the UW Wind Ensemble was prepared in 1991 by Dr. Kenneth Singleton, Director of Bands at the University of Northern Colorado, and is among several of his editions endorsed by The Charles Ives Society. VARIATIONS ON “AMERICA” began its life as a theme and variations for organ, performed by Ives on July 4, 1891 in Brewster, New York. The work features an introduction based on melodic segments of “America” followed by the theme and five contrasting, yet subtly humorous variations that showcase Ives fanciful compositional imagination. Ives submitted Variations for publication but publishers rejected the work and Ives pulled it from public performance. With the assistance of organist E. Power Biggs the work was finally published in 1949. Biggs included Variations on “America” on a program in December 1962 dedicating the new organ in Lincoln Center’s Philharmonic Hall. In attendance was William Schuman, the Center’s first president. He remarked that “by the time the piece was over, I knew I simply had to transcribe it...to make as effective an orchestral piece as I could devise without changing any of the musical materials.” The New York Philharmonic, conducted by André Kostelanetz, premiered Schuman’s version on May 20th, 1964. From this version, William Rhoads, former Director of Bands and Chairman of the Department of Music at the University of New Mexico, transcribed the band version.

John Mackey holds a Master’s degree from The Juilliard School and a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from the Cleveland Institute of Music, where he studied with John Corigliano and Donald Erb, respectively. His works have been performed at the Sydney Opera House; the Brooklyn Academy of Music; Carnegie Hall; the Kennedy Center; Weill Recital Hall; Jacob’s Pillow Dance Festival; Italy’s Spoleto Festival; Alice Tully Hall; the Joyce Theater; Dance Theater Workshop; and throughout Italy, Chile, Japan, Colombia, Austria, Brazil, Germany, England, Australia, New Zealand, and the United States. John has received numerous commissions from the Parsons Dance Company, as well as commissions from the Cleveland Orchestra Youth Orchestra, New York City Ballet’s Choreographic Institute, the Dallas Theater Center, the Alvin Ailey Dance Company, the New York Youth Symphony, Ailey 2, Concert Artists Guild, Peridance Ensemble, and Jeanne Ruddy Dance, among many others. AURORA AWAKES is a piece about the heralding of the coming of light, with the composer’s principal inspiration coming from Aurora, the Roman goddess of the dawn, a mythological figure frequently associated with beauty and light. Built in two substantial sections, the piece moves from a place of remarkable stillness to an unbridled explosion of energy—from darkness to light, placid grey to startling rainbows of color. Direct musical quotation from two diverse sources are also found in the work: the first is an ostinato-based on the familiar guitar introduction to U2’s WHERE THE STREETS HAVE NO NAME. Though the strains of The Edge’s guitar have been metamorphosed into the insistent repetitions of keyboard percussion, the aesthetic is similar—a distant proclamation that grows steadily in fervor. The other quotation is a sly reference to Gustav Holst’s First Suite in E for Military Band. The brilliant E₅ chord that closes the Chaconne of that work is orchestrated (nearly) identically as the final sonority of Aurora Awakes—producing an unmistakably vibrant timbre that won’t be missed by aficionados of the repertoire.
