Collections Budget Allocation Practices Survey

Introduction

The University of Washington is conducting a survey to analyze collection budget allocation practices among libraries. Your input will provide important information about current practices as well as future contemplated changes. Your willingness to answer this brief survey, which should take only 10-15 minutes of your time, is greatly appreciate. Interested participants will receive a summary of survey results. Please respond no later than July 31st, 2018.

Preliminary version of this survey was administered with the ALCTS Chief Collection Development Officers at Large Research Libraries in January 2018. Thank you for participating – and thanks to Penn State University Libraries, whose 2013 survey was adapted in the preparation of these questions (http://dx.doi.org/10.5703/1288284315251).
